Challenges

Develop internal expertise in regulatory compliance to introduce software as a medical device in key markets

Services

Training and skills development

Technologies

Cloud services

Empowered by the EDIH Network's expert guidance, Medicue successfully:

Received specialised training services on FDA regulatory submissions to ensure a smooth and efficient path to market for their cutting-edge solutions.

Benefits

Regulatory expertise

The team gained a thorough understanding of the requirements for introducing their solutions into key global markets, enabling them to advance and optimise the process.

Improved efficiency in product development

With the knowledge gained, the company can identify specific changes linked to product development, refining technical documentation and ensuring the highest standards of compliance and quality.

The training has resulted in a streamlined process to bring new technological solutions to market, ensuring companies meet all regulatory standards while fostering innovation.

Companies can avoid the costly delays and rework that often resulted from non-compliance, leading to more efficient product development cycles.
